MY LOVES.

I laid him in his coffin, my dear love,
And placed luxuriant flowers there above,
The rarest I ant wned;
I buried my love in the mouldering earth,
Beside him placed all happy thoughts, all mirth I
And there my heart counted.

But long years after came a living love,
That to my bleeding breast brought peace, pure dove,
So stilled his lovers' art;
Again I wandered where my dead love lay,
And from his mouldering flesh I snatched away
My sorely—needed heart. L. F. S. S.

SUNDAY EVENING CONCERT.

In response to numerous requests to Mr. Tower, that the Cohasset Musical Association give a sacred concert, the directors have decided to try the experiment and to morrow evening the entire orchestra will present at the Town hall a programme of sacred music. All the churches in town have been invited to participate, and the tunes and hymns have been selected from the books used in the different churches. In order that the entire audience may join with the orchestra in singing it is requested that all attending provide themselves with a book of either of the churches, for the tunes and the hymns used will be found on the programme which will be distributed. In order that those singing may be collected in one body the seats in the body of the hall will be reserved for those provided with books. Following is the programme which will be presented.

C. M. A. CONCERT.

A smart shower which made its appearance suddenly Thursday afternoon had a discouraging effect to the members of the Cohasset Musical Association and their friends, and it was hardly expected that a large audience would venture out to the Autumn Rehearsal of the association to be given at the Town hall on that evening.

The shower did not last long however and long before the hour of commencement the hall was more than comfortably filled, a fact which well illustrated the great interest which is taken in the association.

Promptly at 8 o'clock the fifty-one members of the association filed into the hall and from this time until the close of the concert the attention of the audience was closely held by the performance of the different numbers of the programme, a copy of which we print below. Although the entire programme was well rendered and received deserved applause, especial mention should be made of the singing of Mrs. Levi Tower, the violin solo by Burgess C. Tower, a cornet solo by George Silsbee, and the performance of a medley, introducing "Dream Faces," by the entire orchestra, a flute solo by Miss Carrie G. Bates and clarinet solo by Elmer F. Olmsted, each of these being finely rendered and receiving hearty applause from the entire audience.

Following is the programme as rendered:

PART I.

Overture—Soir d'Automme, (Evening in Autumn.) Orchestra.
Waltz—Violin Solo, Burgess C. Tower

BLAINE AND LOGAN CLUB.

In response to notices issued by the Republican Town Committee, a number of the Republicans of this town met in Bates' Hall last Tuesday evening. The meeting was called to order by the chairman of the committee Mr. J. Q. A. Lothrop, who stated that the meeting was called in response to a petition to the committee signed by 57 Republican voters of the town, requesting that a meeting be called for the purpose of forming a Blaine and Logan Club. Mr. Lothrop was chosen chairman of the meeting and Henry T. P. Bates, secretary. Those present at once organized a club and adopted a set of by-laws for the same.

The club is to be known as the Cohasset Blaine and Logan Club, and is officered as follows; President, Louis T. Cushing; Vice Presidents, Edward E. Wentworth and Arthur C. Litchfield; secretary, Henry T. P. Bates; Treasurer, Arthur H. Thayer; Sergeant-at-arms, Abraham H. Tower, Jr.

It was voted to prepare and raise a flag in front of the headquarters at once and that a grand rally be held at the earliest possible date.

The club starts out with a large membership and a well stocked treasury. Meetings will be held every Wednesday evening, until election, at Bates' Hall and all interested in the success of the straight Republican ticket are cordially invited to attend.

The club's flag will probably be raised today and will bear the names and pictures of the candidates for President and Vice President and the names of the present and next Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

HINGHAM FAIR.

The twenty-sixth annual exhibition of the Hingham Agricultural and Horticultural Society opened Tuesday with rather unfavorable weather.

The exhibit as a whole in the hall was extremely satisfactory, and exceeded the anticipation of the management. It really was the best display of fruit and garden product we have seen in years, and was fair to look upon.

The stock exhibit, of horses, cattle, sheep and swine, were larger than any of the society's displays for the past eight or ten years, and all the pens were full.

The principal attraction of the day was the arrival of the Fifth Regiment, M. V. M., which took place on the arrival of the morning boat from Boston. The evolutions of battalion drill were gone through with, after which the regiment assembled in the upper hall for a collation. In the afternoon they gave a dress parade, and departed for the 3.40 boat.

Wednesday the second day, dawned cloudy, but with warmer temperature, and the attendance was very much larger than the preceding day.

A match game of base ball, for a purse of $100, between the Boston Reserve and the Lawrence club, was won by the reserves in the 10th inning, the score being 6 to 5.

At 1.30 a procession was formed, and, headed by Chief Marshal C. L. Corthell, moved into the upper hall where dinner was in readiness. Rev. E. A. Robinson invoked divine blessing, and after all had eaten liberally, President Ripley introduced Rev. E. A. Horton, who spoke at considerable length. Following Mr. Horton, were ex-Mayor Fred C. Greenhalge of Lowell, Hon. J. F. Russell, Secretary Massachusetts State Board of Agriculture, Gen. W. W. Blackmar and ex-Gov. John D. Long.

A base ball throwing contest was won by David B. Chamberlain of Hingham, distance 355 feet 7 inches; J. Rudderhan of Braintree, second, 322 feet 8 inches.

Hardscrabble and Eureka Hook and Ladder companies of Weymouth competed for a prize of $30. Won by Eureka; time, 1 minute, 36 1-2 seconds. Hardscrabble; time, 1 minute, 58 1-2 seconds.

The remainder of the programme was devoted to obstacle race, sack race, pail of water race, wheelbarrow race, etc. The exhibition closed at five o'clock.

"Show yourself bold and brave when pulls press; wisely likewise take in your sails, when they swell with too fair a breeze," said one of the old poets. "Buy Peirce's Pure Spices in cans and take no other," says one of our modern sages.

Mr. Caleb Lothrop, treasurer of the Cohasset Savings Bank, has lost a valuable "Ideal" fountain pen holder with gold pen attached. The finder will confer a great favor and be suitably rewarded by leaving the same at the Bank or at N. Bates' periodical store.

Mr. Sam'l T. Snow will occupy his winter home in Boston next week.

Mr. E. Snow, 3d, started Tuesday for a short visit to Waterville, Maine.

Capt. Jacob F. Bates of the bark "Thomas Fletcher" is making a short visit at his home here.

The registrars of voters will meet at the selectmen's room at the town house next Tuesday evening.

It is stated on good authority that Cohasset is to have a new depot this autumn. It has been needed for years but we believe in "better late than never."

The return party given at the town hall last Saturday evening was well attended, a good success and much enjoyed by all present.

Scituate is certainly to be pitied. It is necessary to take in the campaign flags every night in order to protect them from the hoodlum element of that town.

It is reported that the independents or mugwumps of this town are soon to raise a Cleveland flag.

Notice the advertisement of Lewando's French Dye House in another column and remember that the agency for the same is at our office.

The C. M. A. will hold a private rehearsal at the Town Hall this evening for the rehearsal of sacred music for tomorrow's concert.

Don't forget the sacred concert tomorrow evening is free to all.

The rehearsal at the C. M. A. concert Thursday evening was the largest that has yet attended one of their concerts.

More Straws for the Old Folks and a Dissertation on Wind.

Mr. Editor,

The interesting and harmonious discussion at the hall last week gave all an opportunity to be heard and the chairman presided with his old time courtly grace and felicity.

Our eminent town counsellor did not Hyde "his light under a bushel," by any means, and gave us about two hours of eloquent but not always logical rhetoric.

On the point of navigable rivers, a vista of stately authorities was set forth and a brief and hurried view of the august legislature—like an enchanting and tantalizing panorama—was shown with a tinge of bluster, to the admiration of the limited audience.

Mr. Hyde's point was not well taken, however, and that august body did not fail like a thunder clap on the one hundred and seventy-nine petitioners (one hundred and fifty being voters). The Little Harbor has been three times bridged in different places. At Nichols Avenue, Jerusalem Road and Cuhn dam. Twenty or thirty years of occupancy of these bridges would make any harbor claims dubious. A history of Little Harbor is given later.

Amidst some side excursions to the Marine Hospital, State buildings, and an old ship of diminutive size, which once upon a time, in the course of two high tides, mirmiculously 'navigated' Little Harbor'—the facts narrowed down to the point that the town (and also at one time Mr. Hyde) were unanimous in having a roadway between the given points.

Now the last word about "Little Harbor" A number of years since, about forty, three thousand bushels of salt were annually reclaimed from the sea, at the "Salt works" on Sandy Beach." Not a great distance away on the marsh now covered with water stood a house in which lived the Superintendent of the works, Mr. Kilbourn, this was in 1842; the harbor then consisted of creeks, around which the farmers mowed meadow grass, and they were so small then, one could "easily jump across them, and walk from his house, to the village, dry shod."

At that time a fine sandy beach extended across the mouth of the present stream known as Cuhn Dam; through this, and under it, existed a culvert, 6x5 1-2 feet wide, which acted as a drain for the creeks. A violent storm obstructed the mouth of this dam, and the town of Cohasset employed a man named Towle, who successfully removed the obstruction, and perfected the present sluice-way, now, by continued storms, magnified to its present size; at that time, Capt. Nick. Tower built the first bridge. Now if the Cohasset people want to make Cohasset Harbor a port of refuge, and manufacture, let them get a grant or appropriation to improve it, and dredge it, instead of leaving it by negligence to fill up, and be of no value to coasters or mariners. But let us hear no more about "Little Harbor" being a navigable river, when the former harbor meets with no attention. NEPTUNE.

SCITUATE.

Three moss buyers were in town Wednesday, but did not buy any moss or offer to, their only object being to see how much there was here. They report about 7,000 barrels.

Mrs. Mary A. Livermore will deliver a Temperance Leeture in the M. E. Church, on Friday evening, Oct. 3d, at half past seven o'clock. There will be no charge for admission.

Mr. Roland Jackson, a man over eighty years of age, was seen at sunrise this morning mowing tough fox grass on Greenland meadows. It is remarkable the energy displayed in the old people of Scituate.

The Rural Improvement Society will hold a meeting at Moses Colman's on Wednesday evening, Oct. 1st, to which all are invited that take an interest in having our streets lighted, and side-walks repaired

It is doubtful whether Mr. Moore will be able to conduct the service at the M. E. Church this evening on account of his wife's sickness. But there will be someone there to conduct it if he doesn't come.

Miss Cornelia Allen has accompanied her sister, Mrs. M. J. Miller, to her home in Geneseo, Ill. They will attend the convention at Saratoga where they will be met by Rev. Mr. Miller, who returned home a short time since.

By reference to our marriage notices it will be seen that Dr. J. B. Hibben, son of Rev. H. B. Hibben, formerly of this place, is married. The happy pair have come East on their bridal tour and are now spending a few days at Jamaica, Long Island, with the groom's parents.

Capt. Chas. Hallett and brother George H., Capt. Geo. W. Hamilton and Chas. L. Hallett went to Scituate last Tuesday, returning Saturday. They report a magnificent time, bringing back with them a barrel of cod as a result of their fishing. —Mansfield News.

The temperance address given by Mr. Geo. W. Hayes of Boston in the M. E. Church, Wednesday evening, was fairly attended. Mr. H. is an earnest laborer in the cause of temperance and held his audience to the close in an interesting manner. He gave his experience as a fallen man, during which many were moved to tears. We have no doubt but that his words will leave an impression upon the minds of our people.

On Thursday evening the services at the church were conducted by Mr. D. L. Chubuck, the evangelist, who, on account of the shower keeping many away, spoke on "God's willing-dess to save," instead of the subject announced for that evening, "Marriage," but will give the latter address on Sunday evening at the church.

The friends of temperance will be glad to learn that Mrs. Mary A. Livmore is to deliver a temperance leeture in our town on the evening of Oct. 3d. This is welcome news, for nowhere is such missionary work more needful. The selectmen have made a good beginning lately, but the generous appropriation made last spring is far from being exhausted, and no better service could be rendered to our townsmen nor better satisfaction given than by the expenditure of every cent of it. Surely when hardly a day passes without the disgraceful spectacle of one or more drunken men reeling through the streets or sleeping off the effect of a debauch on our sidewalks. It ought not to be very difficult to secure evidence which will make rumselling more expensive to the dealers then to their victims. It is our own apathy which makes the traffic profitable. Let us all turn out and give the distinguished lecturer a full house and sympathetic hearing.

Miss Sarah Murphy, a typo in the HERALD office, is spending her vacation in Weymouth and Boston.

The St. Louis party, consisting of ten or more, who have spent the entire season in Scituate, return to-day.

The Prohibitionists have evidently shown more enthusiasm then either of the other political parties in town.

Miss Emma I. Brown took charge of her school in Hingham this week. The first three weeks were supplied by a substitute.

Dr. F. T. Vinal has taken one of the rooms in the Satuit House for an office. It is more central than his former office.

Mrs. Chas. Jaquith of Medford who has been visiting Mrs. J. S. Drew, returned home this week.

The Curtis place near the depot, has been sold to Boston parties, who took possession of it Saturday.

The Lamp of Clay.

My husband was a sculptor in New Orleans. He was not a poor artist, but wealthy, and spent his money lavishly, so that our house was crowded with costly trifles, and our plate the finest in the city.

Often friends spoke of us, half in jest and half in earnest, of the tempting bait our dwelling offered to burglars or dishonest servants; but Ludwig laughed at their warnings, and I never knew fear when he was by.

So we lived five years, less careful of bolts and bars than many who had little save their four walls to protect, and never suffering save from some petty pilfering.

In the autumn of 18—, we had just returned from a trip inland, and Ludwig was busy on new work; fresh clay had been carried to his studio, models engaged, and everything prepared for a busy winter. I had my new duties and cares also, for an infant, not three months old, lay upon my breast. And we were very proud and happy in our new treasure; never in our lives had we talked so much of the future. Every hour of the coming winter was portioned off.

One night I put my babe to sleep and went out to the kitchen to see the cook concerning breakfast, but could not find her. Our servants were [illegible]

"There's a queer bit of clay on a board under your bed, ma'am. Shall I throw it away?"

I burst into tears.

So the dry lump made part of my luggage.

ILLINOIS STATE FAIR.

Horses and Chariots.

The annual agricultural fair of Illinois is of great proportions, as it is the show ground for adjoining States. It dwarfs all things of its kind that I ever saw. Its great attraction is the horses, as the people of the city have but little interest in anything else that they care to see. [illegible]

They Didn't.

An ignorant looking man with a good deal of money was showing himself and his purse about our streets in a manner calculated to attract social sharks the other day, when a couple of young gamblers got hold of him, and asked him if he didn't feel like having a nice quiet little game. He replied: "Well, I dunno. I reckon I mought jes' as well pull yer leg for a little more chalk, as not." [illegible]

Rev. Father Wilds' EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well-known city missionary in New York, and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes as follows:

"78 E. 54th St., New York, May 16, 1882.
Messrs. J. C. Ayer & Co., Gentlemen:
Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfortable itching humor affecting more especially my limbs, which itched so intolerably at night, and burned so intensely, that I could scarcely bear any clothing over them. I was also a sufferer from a severe catarrh and catarrhal cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, by observation of many other cases, and from personal use in former years, I began taking it for the above-named disorders. My appetite improved almost from the first dose. After a short time the fever and itching were allayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred per cent stronger, and I attribute these results to the use of the Sarsaparilla, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two bottles. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.
Yours respectfully, Z. P. Wilds."

The above instance is but one of the many constantly coming to our notice, which prove the perfect adaptability of Ayer's Sarsaparilla to the cure of all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood, and a weakened vitality.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

A Remarkable Discovery.
Be Your Own Physician

Many men, from the effects of youthful imprudence, have brought about a state of weakness that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease, and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever being suspected, they are doctored for everything but the right one. Notwithstanding the many valuable remedies that medical science has produced for the relief of this class of patients, none of the ordinary modes of treatment effect a cure. During our extensive college and hospital practice we have experimented with and discovered new and concentrated remedies. The accompanying prescription is offered as a certain and speedy cure, as hundreds of cases in our practice have been restored to perfect health by its use after all other remedies failed. Perfectly pure ingredients must be used in the preparation of this prescription. [illegible]

Pickles.

With the advent of the month of September, the prudent housewife commences to prepare her stock of winter pickles and sweetmeats. The ripe fruits of the fall are disguised with rich spices and condiments until their original flavor is lost, and only the delicate combination of the sharp and pungent spices remains. Pickles are a useful and very essential article of food in the domestic economy. We do not half appreciate their value until we try to pass through each day's existence without them. We find our meals quite tasteless and insipid without the aromatic stimulation of the palate.

The relation of pickles to our food is very similar to that of a sharp tempered person to our society. It is these quick, high-strung individuals that put new life into us, inspire us with ambition and enliven us with their wit, and, perhaps, satire. "Sharp as a pickle" is by no means an uncommon expression, and when we attempt to pass through life without the assistance of these slightly acidulous persons, the effect is about the same as sitting down to a hearty dinner without pickles. But still we do not advocate the cultivation of these vinegary persons in our midst. The natural assimilation of their characteristics with those of ordinary people is very likely to reduce the most pungent pickles to a mild and gentle flavor suitable to everyday tastes. The greatest wits the world ever produced were naturally pickles of the harshest kind, but refinement and education brought them down to a delicious tartness that all civilization could appreciate. In the rough they are pickles—in the polish obtained by friction with books and society they are wits and satirists.

Pickles are more necessary to some persons than others. There are natures so sluggish and indifferent that only the sharpest pickles will stir into activity and bring out the worth that lies concealed beneath the surface. Female pickles attached to opposite temperaments sometimes produce excellent results, although they must, of course, be kept in a (family) jar for awhile. The sum and substance of it all is that acid is good in its place, while too much of it is apt to be injurious. And even the very best of men are unable to tell what kind of a red Fate may have in pickle for them.—[Reading Chronicle.

Sleeplessness.

In order to avoid sleeplessness, keep yourselves free, as far as possible, from that fatal enemy of sleep, indigestion, by the strict adherence to those laws of diet which in these days of running after knowledge must be familiar to all of you. Take care that you abstain from those unhealthy and sleep-driving heavy suppers; though there can be no harm in having a light meal of some plainly-cooked and nutritious food some little time before bedtime; in fact, in many cases of wakefulness in debilitated or even weakly persons, such a meal rather predisposes to sleep. Whatever is taken at the time should be easy of digestion and not likely in any way to irritate the stomach, and should be taken in a moderate quantity. Exercise, and exercise in the open air, is absolutely necessary for the preservation of healthy sleep, and among the women of our poorer classes, more especially those living in our towns, this is not thought of as it should be. If care and worry prevent sleep, I should advise some gentle occupation of the mind prior to retiring to rest—a game of chess, cards or backgammon, an hour's social conversation, or even a little reading when actually in bed, provided that it is nothing very exciting. A warm bath, again, is an excellent excitant of sleep, but must not be indulged in too often.

A Rich Little Girl.

The richest little girl in the world is the seven-year-old daughter of Captain George H. Perkins, of the navy, who is well known in this city. She is worth $7,000,000 in her own name, the amount having been left her recently by her grandfather, William F. Weld, of Boston. Mr. Weld was the father of the little girl's mother, and when he died four heirs, including the child, came into possession of the bulk of his fortune, $28,000,000, which was divided into four portions. The sum of $20,000 and a valuable residence in Boston was bequeathed to Mrs. Perkins, wife of the Captain, and $20,000 annually to be used in caring for the little millionaire heiress until she reaches the legal age and claims her millions. This makes Captain Perkins' income in actual cash $40,000, without including his governmental salary, or the rental of his magnificent residence in Boston. Secretary Chandler recently characterized the story that Perkins had resigned from the navy to look after his estates as untrue, and said that he had been ordered to duty on board of the steamer Hartford. The captain applied for one year's leave, with a view of resigning at the end of the year. The department, however, declined to grant the request, as he had been away from duty for two years. The secretary said the captain was one of the best men in the service, and that he would not resign because he loves sea life too well.—[Washington Republican.

"Will the coming man be happier?" asks a writer. It depends to a great extent upon whether his wife has got tired and gone to sleep, or is still waiting up for him.

Melange.

Boston laments the desecration of its once aristocratic streets of palatial homes. Many costly residences near the State house are being demolished for the accommodation of business. Park street, once the most aristocratic street of its length in Boston, where lived Dr. John C. Warren, the famous surgeon; Josiah Quincy, the enterprising and sagacious mayor; Abbott Lawrence, its foremost merchant; the wealthy family of the Wards, and others of great social distinction, is now given over entirely to traders.

"Have you any nice books for a girl of my age?" asked a pert little brunette of the librarian in a public library. Francis Scott Key, the author of the "Star Spangled Banner," who is a native of Maryland, and died in Baltimore in 1843 at the age of sixty-four, is to have an expensive monument in Golden Gate Park, San Francisco, the trustees of the James Lick estate having decided to expend $60,000 for that purpose. It is an interesting coincidence that a grandson of the poet, Mr. John R. Key, who resided in Boston several years ago, and is now of Stockbridge, should have painted a picture of the Golden Gate which took the first prize at the Philadelphia centennial exhibition.

DR. James W. Sweet, of No. 299 Water street, New Haven, who has perhaps the largest practice in the country in reducing Dislocations and fractures of Bones, kindly gives us the following:

New Haven, Conn., August 14, 1882.
Messrs. Lewis & Co.:
Gentlemen:—I have suffered for the past three or four years with malaria in its different forms, especially chills and fever (intermittent). I have studied the subject carefully and had arrived at the conclusion that quinine, in some of its forms, must be the only remedy, i. e., if quinine would not cure, one would have to stand it the best he could. My attention some three months ago was called to your Red Jacket Bitters. I gave them a trial, and was happily surprised at the result. The malarial symptoms left me after a use of two bottles. I keep them in the house, however, and do not propose to entertain the symptoms a great while should they recur. I believe you may safely claim for your Bitters that they are a better remedy for malaria, or chills and fever, than has ever before invited the attention of the public.
Respectfully, &c., DR. JAMES W. SWEET.

Pardon Notes.

James Duffy, serving a sentence of six years, expiring Oct. 1888, for breaking and entering, has been pardoned by the governor, as he was at the point of death. Gov. Robinson has used his pardoning power but sparingly since he has been in office, having only pardoned eighteen persons up to date. A considerable proportion of these were pardoned on account of sickness. Four of those pardoned have died since their release, and others are expected to do soon. During the same time last year Gov. Butler pardoned twenty seven. In 1881 Gov. Long gave thirty-four the advantage of executive clemency. In 1880 twenty-nine were pardoned, thirty-eight in 1879 and forty-two in 1878.

A new order of things which will largely affect the future prosperity of this place was made known on Tuesday, and received with surprise by many waiting for work. Messrs. R. A. French, C. A. This throws some over two hundred persons out of work, nearly one hundred of whom—as calculated by an old citizen—are voters. It seems hard that as the Saxonville blanket has won such a world-wide reputation, before long it will be in demand, and possibly under a new administration it can be made to compete with others of a similar grade.—[Fram. 1st. To choose a Moderator.

2d. Will the town authorize its Selectmen, or appoint a committee to ascertain if any practicable way can be devised, or any arrangements made with the meadow owners of Green Harbor River to protect Green Harbor for the benefit of the town, and endeavor to obtain such legislation a may be necessary for that purpose, or act anything thereto.

3d. To see if the town will vote to discontinue the road over the dike, and known as the dike road, or act or do anything in relation thereto, as the meeting may desire.

It will be well for the voters having the welfare of the town at heart, to attend.

A pleasant occasion at the Greenaway cottage last Monday afternoon, Sept. 15th, is worthy a passing notice. A VISITOR.

In your last issue, a non-seer mentioned a certain boating party that had seen the sea-serpent, but being a non-seer, he was at liberty to doubt the truth of the story. Our party consisted of six in all, four ladies, and two gents, the ladies were all blessed with good eyesight, and were also strictly temperate, both the gentlemen were perfectly at home on the "wild waves," and one, far advanced in years, had never met with the monster before, he was of huge dimentions, and as he careered over the calm waters, he plainly showed six distinct curves on his back, his tail trailing after him. Our captain's estimate was that he measured thirty or forty feet in length. The writer only regrets our not advancing nearer to see what his snake-ship might be tempted to do.

It is a good time to visit the Old Mechanics' Fair, Boston, it is now in full operation, and the building is full of useful, ornamental and attractive exhibits. The electric railway, which is run by electricity in the basement, with the engine, (electric) and car attached filled with people moving on the rails with great speed, is a great attraction. The Art gallery with its splendid paintings is said to be the finest we have had, and the improvements made in the Mechanic arts, in the practical things of life as shown in this fair is wonderful.

We are pleased at the result of the Marshfield fair last week. We have always felt that if the Lord would only favor us with good weather the crowds would go, for I have rarely seen a fair (and we have seen a great many throughout the country) that makes a better exhibit than the Marshfield Cattle Show. The Massachusetts Horticultural society of course makes a speciality of fruit and collects throughout the state, but I have seen nearly as fine an exhibit of fruit at our fair, as that displayed at this great fruit fair in Boston this year. The members of the Marshfield Agricultural Society have reason to be proud of the exhibits displayed annually at their fair and if we can only be blessed with pleasant weather, the people in the surrounding country will fill the hall and grounds to see and enjoy it annually.

SEA VIEW.

Mr. E. Eugene Bateson was married Sunday last, to a Hanover lady.

One of the most disastrous conflagrations that ever visited the town took place last Wednesday night. At about 11.15 o'clock the violin case manufactory of Randall Bros. was destroyed by fire. The fire was first seen by Mrs. Arthur Drew who resides nearly opposite, and an alarm was immediately given, but such was the combustable nature of the buildings and their contents that nothing could be done toward saving them. All the men in the neighborhood were soon on the spot and the surrounding buildings, though in great danger, were saved. The origin of the fire is a mystery as it evidently caught from the outside, the only portion of the building where there was any fire kept being the last to be burned. The theory advanced by Mr. Geo. Randall is that someone went into the building to light a pipe and threw the match where it fell on the dry sawdust lying about. The loss is estimated at over $10,000. Insured for $4,000, in the Abington Mutual. The loss of the business of the enterprising firm will be a serious one to the place and it is hoped that they will be able to rebuild and continue business.

To the Voters of the Town of Marshfield.

MARSHFIELD, Sept. 23, 1884.

Mr. Editor.

I understand that pursuant to a petition signed by several of the "Anti Dike" representatives a special town meeting is to be held to see if the town of Marshfield will discontinue its road built only a few years ago, at an expense of some three thousand dollars, and not only connecting the immediate villages of Green Harbor and Brant Rock, but furnishing a direct and indispensible thoroughfare for the whole southern portion of the town, and we may as well say southern portion of the county, with the summer resort of Marshfield beach.

What does this mean? It surely cannot mean that the parties petitioning, wish to avoid expense, for if the road should be discontinued, a far greater expense awaits them.

It cannot mean death to the Dike, for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts that made the Dike a legal structure will undoubtedly protect it. It surely can't be any great blow to the "Dike owners" for they would only profit by so doing.

Well then, what does it mean? It means despotism. It means uphold the Dynamiter in his lawlessness and murderous villiany. It means a Bridge. It means an enormous expense to the town to further the scheme of a few speculators that have a few acres of land to sell and are anxious to take the town unawares, in its present agitation, concerning the expense of keeping an "armed patrol" on one of the town's main roads.

It is a disgrace to the town, be it said, to have to be obliged to keep watchmen to protect its property from being destroyed by men, who if they hold their just dues would be where our "armed patrol" would protect them from the outside world.

The law abiding citizens of the town cannot be so near sighted as not to see through the little game. And I am sure that there is patriotism enough left in the little town to put down the "Dynamiters" and have peace reign again. Where else in this Commonwealth or in the whole United States and Dominions is it necessary to have a public highway guarded night and day. It has cost several hundreds of "enraged citizens" of other towns are willing to proceed to Green Harbor in a body and by force dig away the "nuisance" as they term it. Let them try it, that's all! But I guess when the leaders went to rally their "enraged citizens" they would find them very busy that day.

Much has been written in regard to the Dike of late and I have read with interest the straight forward statements of each faction, and with surprise the palpable falsehoods of the other.

In an article published in the Brockton Enterprise, a short time since, I noticed that the author, speaking of having been there". I would like to ask him if he saw that U. S. Frigate, or was it a fishing boat, such as may now be seen there far more numerous? We have known parties from his locality, who if their eyes had felt as big as their mouths would have called a dory the "Great Eastern."

But I did not intend this poor apology for an article for others than the voters of the town of Marshfield. The voters know just how valuable Cut River will be to the town ten or fifteen years ago. They also know that many a young man has been lost on those shores, irredemably lost, not by finding too little water in the Harbor, but by finding too much rum on the shore.

Trusting that every voter in the town of Marshfield will realize the importance of attending this special town meeting, and settling the question once for all,

I am yours respectfully,

***

CHURCH HILL.

The ladies interested in the formation of a Rebecca Lodge at Hanover, are requested to meet at the Hall on Friday evening to work on regalias.

A birthday party was given to Miss Lottie Brownville, Thursday evening, Sept. 18. Between 30 and 40 of her friends and school mates were present. She received a number of presents.

Last Friday evening a Blaine and Logan flag was thrown to the breeze near M. Little's store. Bowles' 5th Regt. band arrived at 8 o'clock. After speaking the procession started for Hanover. Nearly every house was illuminated with candles and lanterns. As they passed the house of Mr. Robert Sylvester, little Robbie threw his flag to the breeze, and also made a very pretty display of fireworks and Chinese lanterns which were very tastefully arranged. Arriving at Hanover a large flag was unfurled as the band played the "Star Spangled Banner." Mr. Robert Dwelley's place was handsomely lighted with Chinese lanterns. As the flag was being unfurled, red lights were burned, after which Rev. J. W. Brownville in a very able manner introduced the speakers. Mr. Greener the colored speaker held the audience for nearly two hours. There was a very large gathering. People commenced to gather at Church Hill by half past six and at seven o'clock, Mr. Little had all he could attend to in selling torches. The display of fireworks at Church Hill was splendid. The Hanover Branch ran a special train to accommodate those who wished to enjoy the occasion.

DUXBURY

At the Plymouth County Fair at Bridgewater last week, Mrs. R. Upham, on stockings, and H. H. Delano on bulls, took premiums.

In the old Puritan town of Duxbury, Plymouth county, an Episcopal chapel of St. John's has been open for services this summer. It was originally a plain little schoolhouse, bare and ugly; but through the good taste and judgment of the architect, Robert Day Andrews, of the firm of Andrews & Jaques, it has been made into a gem of a chapel. It is simple but quite complete in its appointments, and there is such harmony in its colorings that, with the beautiful chancel window, designed and painted by Mr. Andrews, it is a pleasure to all who worship there, and a great credit to the firm for the economical manner in which the necessary changes have been made. The services have been fully attended and the offertories generous.—[Gazette.

DIFFERENCE IN GIRLS.

When a clever fellow steals a kiss from a Marshfield girl, she smiles and says—nothing.

The Scituate ladies, however, are so fond of kissing, that, when saluted on one cheek, they instantly present the other.

When a young man takes a kiss from a Cohasset girl, she blushes like a rose and says smartly, "you daren't do that twice more."

The Island Creek girls are extremely averse to kissing; if you attempt to steal a kiss from one of them, she will exclaim in an injured tone, "Kiss me! Well I guess not, unless you are stronger than I am, and I know you are."

If you snatch a kiss from a Duxbury girl, she at once becomes petrified with astonishment, and, so long as you continue to kiss her, she'll stay petrified.

SOUTH DUXBURY.

W. W. Freeman is at home on a two weeks vacation.

Miss H. Marsh returned home last week from Orleans, Cape Cod.

Isn't it about time we had an open air concert by the Duxbury band?

Mr. and Mrs. Hodge left town last week for Boston, where they will remain during the winter.

The Misses Watsons have returned to the city. They have our best wishes, and we hope for their early return next season.

Miss J. D. Freeman returned to her studies in So. Boston on Thursday, the 18th. She will probably pass the holidays at home.

The covering of the wheel at the postoffice is a source of trouble both to the post master, and community in general. No one is pleased, except the fastidious few, who object to persons knowing when they have a letter. But orders from headquarters must be obeyed.

A grand exodus of summer people took place last week. There are very few left at the Standish house, but "Bay Side" has a number of visitors still. The Tyrel, Pratt, Currier, Loudon and Southworth cottages are also occupied. Some of the families think of remaining here during the winter.

It is indeed "apple year" in this section. The trees are completely loaded with fruit, and on the ground beneath, it is impossible to step without crushing a luscious porter or red cheeked baldwin. The owners are glad to give them away by the basket full, and the small boy is in his element. Other fruits are not so abundant. There will be very few grapes this year.

WEST DUXBURY.

Mrs. Nathan Keene and her daughter have returned from Chelsea, where they have been making a short visit.

Much to the delight of his many friends Dr. B. P. Barstow has decided to settle in Kingston. We wish him success.

A valuable horse and buggy belonging to Mr. Newton Howland was stolen Thursday. It was fastened in front of Rice's store in Rockland while the gentleman who had hired it stepped inside, upon his return he found no trace of carriage or horse.

One of the largest crook-necked squashes ever raised in this county was taken from the garden of Mr. Hiram Randall, last week. This petty thieving is becoming altogether too prevalent, and we are glad to know that a reward has been offered for the detection of the culprits.

Mr. Fred Simmons drove a large party to the Republican rally at Hanover, Friday evening. There were not many gentlemen among the crowd but most of the ladies are on the right side. Inquiries were heard as to why the speakers were opposite the Democratic flag. We think it must have been in order to show that they have courage to front the enemy and hurl defiance in the face of the opposing party.

At a session of the Probate Court held at Abington, Monday, Sept. 21, a license to sell real estate was granted to Elizabeth Burrell, of Scituate, administrator, of the estate of James M. Burrell.

Two flags have been raised on the Hill, one for Cleveland and Hendricks at the store of J. C. Nash, and one for Blaine and Logan at the residence of Hon. E. T. Fogg.

Dr. Franklin Jacobs of West Scituate, attended the first reunion of the 4th Regiment at Stoughton last week Wednesday. He was elected temporary secretary of the meeting. He was also elected corresponding secretary of the association.

While William Sylvester was walking through Joseph Merritt's pasture, he heard calves in distress and upon tracking them found a couple of dogs, which had worried a calf until it was so exhausted that they overcame it, and had begun biting it. He drove them off, and took the calf and tried to raise it to its feet, but found it too weak too stand.

South Shore Farmers' Club.

By invitation of Mr. James W. Sampson we attended at his farm a field day meeting of the South Shore Farmers' Club, on Sept. 19. These field day meetings have been held in various parts of the state. Mr. Edward Burnett of Southboro has held many, and I believe was the first to hold them. They have been held in West Roxbury, bringing the farmers together where they can see the crops and discuss matters pertaining to them. They get new ideas by coming in contact with each other. Their occupation is such that they do not have constant intercourse with each. Take other occupations there is a kind of co-operation, a sociability, numbers meet and discuss the news of the day whilst the farmer has at isolated life, consequently becomes conservative. Emerson says of the farmer: "He is a slow person, timed to nature, and not to city watches. He takes the pace of seasons plants and chemistry. Nature never hurries; atom by atom, little by little she achieves her work. The farmer times himself to nature and acquires that lifelong patience which belongs to her." Mind is such that it can only be brought to its highest activity by coming in contact with other minds, hence the value of these meetings.

We were met by Mr. Sampson with a hearty welcome, and found the members of the club with the leading farmers of the section, and ladies were upwards of one hundred in attendance. Mr. Sampson led us to an eminence near by, where we took our stand to judge the smiling produce of the land. A fine view was before us, hill, dale, forest sea of leaves. In the distance the ocean with Hotel Humarock were seen. On the slope was nearly 1000 peach trees. Some years they had borne heavy, but this was not a favorable season for them. Below was a field of twenty-five acres where the harvest had ended to busy reign and left those acres their prey again, eighteen of which had been underdrained with tile by great industry which the owner takes pride. Washington thus wrote in 1788: "The more I am acquainted with agricultural affairs, the better I like them; and I can nowhere find so great satisfaction as in those innocent and useful pursuits. In indulging their feelings, I am led to reflect how much more delightful to an undebauched mind is the task of making improvements on the earth, than all the vain glory which can be acquired from ravaging it by the most uninterrupted career of conquests an employment which is more congenial to the natural dispositions of one half of the other." Mr. S. showed us a stable 50x30 feet, finished with hard pine. Water was led into it by pipes from a spring. We passed through a barn 100 feet by 38 in width, containing 75 tons of hay. A hay press was there as no sells considerable hay in bales. A building 100 feet by 15 was used for wagons, tools and machines, cattle shed 75 feet by 35 with tye-ups for forty head, with water led in pipes to troughs in front of them. In the yard was a fine cow owned by Mr. H. H. Northey. We proceeded to the part of the farm where Mr. Sampson's residence is we pass through orchards with their trees loaded with fruit, a stable 40 feet by 30 met our sight here it is where most of Mr. Sampson's horses are kept, some 12 horses and colts, another cow stable near the house where 10 cows are kept, overhead 75 tons of rowen are stored. "To meet the threats of Boreas undismayed," we come to the dairy which claims the choicest care, "with pails bright scoured and delicately sweet." The Cooley creamer with cans submerged under water to a temperature of 40°. The Davis swing churn which "slow rolls its load of clogging cream," in the amount of 3500 lbs. a year. Mr. S. also sells cream and milk. His farm originally comprised 100 acres only enough for a horse and cow, he has increased his farm to upwards of 250 acres with many buildings He sells some 80 tons of hay a year, besides running a 40 feet wagon, has 5 acres in potatoes and roots, 5 acres in sweet corn, 1-2 acre in strawberries, 1-4 acre in asparagus for the market. As we ended our tour of inspection we were invited into the new house, or round on the 4th of July Judge Cushing mansion where a bountiful collation was spread. After giving justice to the inner man, we pass it to the stable where seats were provided for the large assembly, and the order of exercises and flow of soul was to be held. Mr. David Turner of Marshfield, vice president of the South Shore Farmers' Club, (in the absence of president L. S. Richards who was unable to be present) to be secretary and treasurer of Mass. Horticultural Societies (Mr.) called the meeting to order and after a few remarks, C. O. Eldon read a paper on Eisenteinous.

The president called on Hon. Noyes, editor of the Mayard-setts Ploughman, who in his remarks said that the editorials would have to come to Mr. Sampson's for information. J. H. Bourne, D. J. Paterson, J. F. Hatch and W. H. Hosking of Marshfield, H. H. Northey, H. D. Northey and H. M. Jenkins of Scituate and J. Stoddard of Pembroke and others made remarks but having to leave, was unable to hear them. Mr. Sampson showed us as we passed along his fine herd of 16 cows with well shaped udders, deep in the blood of the Ulsamal Ayrshires with their leader whose station, by many a brush that post of honor gained. Cherished remembrances will often steal into the mind until it rises in recollection like the last rays of a beautiful sunset of this golden day spent with the owner and the fine assembly present.

We take the following extract from the Courier upon agriculture in Plymouth County. Plymouth County ranks as the tenth county in the State in value of agricultural products, and ninth in that of manufacturing goods. The annual agricultural products being worth $1,749,267. West Bridgewater ranks first with a product of $91,593, and little Hull lowest, with only $4,500 produced on its five farms.

They worked in East Abington near Lane's corner.

There are in the county 3012 farms. Over 80,000 bushels of Indian corn are raised annually, which is an average of 32 bushels to the acre on the 2500 acres in cultivation, among the other products are hay, 20,002 tons; milk, 807,662 gallons; butter, 385,499 pounds, and cheese, 9278 pounds.

The Cape Cod ship canal is still full of sand hills and cows, horses, pastures, and such like,—all but about six hundred feet at the east end, which has some thirty feet of water, and it looks as if the big dredge would rest out sooner than were out. still it is bound to go through sometime in the future, four or five thousand years hence, when the big dredge will be looked at as the pyramids now are, and the people will wonder what on earth 'twas built for. The machine will have to stay where it is as the bar is behind it and the cape before it, and until it digs it won't get out. Memorial.

SOME PLAIN FACTS.

Statement of a Gentleman of Rochester, N. Y., Showing the Power of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, of Rondout, N. Y., over Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder.

No pain which man has to endure surpasses that of gravel. "I would rather die," exclaims the patient, "than have such attacks very often." It caused the death of Napoleon III. Mr. E. Dewitt Jerome, 271 Plymouth Avenue, Rochester, N. Y., recently had a remarkable experience with it. It is a well-built, fine-looking, hearty appearing gentleman. One day he was prostrated with pain from the small of his back to the abdomen. For some time previous his appetite had been fickle, his bowels irregular, and his urine very high in hips. After voiding water he had a severe pain and gnawing sensation "For some time my disorder puzzled me," he said, "but one day I read of a case very like my own in a paper. I wrote the person whose name appeared, and he consented to fully. From this little pebbles, I discovered I had stone in the bladder and gravel in in the kidneys. I was greatly stunned then, but the disease has been to me now, for I am fully recovered—cured by Dr. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, of Rondout, N. Y., which I most cordially recommend to all persons suffering from kidney blood-ders, pain in back, stone or gravel. My wife also regards it as especially excellent for women. Dr. Kennedy has performed many surgical operations for stone, when size prevented removal through the natural channels and he has never lost a case!
